What to expect from MMC 3630:

This course is designed to explore the impact of social media in our lives from a personal and professional perspective. Social media is impacting how we engage with family, friends, co-workers, and businesses. It impacts how and which media we consume. It turns casual fans into fanatics. It helps keep us better informed. It is how products are advertised. It is how brands earn positive public relations. And it provides us with information on what is going on in politics, sports, business, news, entertainment, and weather. But social media is also dividing us and creating vast echo chambers of ideology used to spread dissent, hatred, and propaganda. In this course, we will look to see how we can take the positives of social media and use them for good, while also recognizing the dangers of social media.

By the end of the semester, students will develop a greater understanding of the prevalence of social media in all aspects of our lives.

Required Texts

Social media is rapidly changing area and the skills students needed just a few years ago are already outdated. For this reason, few textbooks are as up to date as needed to cover the skills you will need for a job when you graduate. Therefore, all the material you will need for this course comes in lectures and online readings.

Course Philosophy and Expectations

Mastery in this class requires preparation, passion, and professionalism. Students are expected, within the requirements allowed by university policy, to attend class, be on time, and meet all deadlines. Work assigned should be completed as directed. Full participation in discussions, group projects, and small group activities are required.

My role as instructor is to identify critical issues related to the course, direct students to and teach relevant information, assign appropriate learning activities, create opportunities for assessing student performance and communicate the outcomes of such assessments in a timely, informative, and professional way. Feedback is essential for students to have confidence that they have mastered the material and for the instructor to determine that students are meeting all course requirements.

At all times, it is expected that students will welcome and respond professionally to assessment feedback, that students will treat fellow students, instructors and assistants with respect, and that students will contribute to the success of the class to the best of their abilities.

This class is in-person, and you must log into Canvas with your UF ID and password to access the materials and assignments. The course is organized into modules with due dates.

Video Conferencing

In-Class Recording

Students are allowed to record video or audio of class lectures. However, the purposes for which these recordings may be used are strictly controlled. The only allowable purposes are (1) for personal educational use, (2) in connection with a complaint to the university, or (3) as evidence in, or in preparation for, a criminal or civil proceeding. All other purposes are prohibited. Specifically, students may not publish recorded lectures without the written consent of the instructor. A "class lecture" is an educational presentation intended to inform or teach enrolled students about a particular subject, including any instructor-led discussions that form part of the presentation, and delivered by any instructor hired or appointed by the University, or by a guest instructor, as part of a University of Florida course. A class lecture does not include lab sessions, student presentations, clinical presentations such as patient history, academic exercises involving solely student participation, assessments (quizzes, tests, exams), field trips, private conversations between students in the class or between a student and the faculty or lecturer during a class session. Publication without permission of the instructor is prohibited. To "publish" means to share, transmit, circulate, distribute, or provide access to a recording, regardless of format or medium, to another person (or persons), including but not limited to another student within the same class section. Additionally, a recording, or transcript of a recording, is considered published if it is posted on or uploaded to, in whole or in part, any media platform, including but not limited to social media, book, magazine, newspaper, leaflet, or third party note/tutoring services. A student who publishes a recording without written consent may be subject to a civil cause of action instituted by a person injured by the publication and/or discipline under UF Regulation 4.040 Student Honor Code and Student Conduct Code.

Electronic Communication Policy

In addition to the University's policy, please consider the following:

Privacy, confidentiality, and security in all electronic communications. See Information Security. All electronic communication resources must be used for the course and in alignment with to the CJC Online and University mission. See the Acceptable Use Policy.

Prohibited use of false identity, false identity pseudonyms, or anonymous (sender's name or electronic identification is hidden).

Prohibited online access without consent.

Prohibited disruption of services including introducing computer contaminants (viruses).

Prohibited harassment of any kind.

Please see UF's Information Technology policies for additional information.

Academic Integrity Policy

UF students are bound by The Honor Pledge which states, "We, the members of the University of Florida community, pledge to hold ourselves and our peers to the highest standards of honor and integrity by abiding by the Honor Code."

The Student Honor Code, Violation of the Student Honor Code, specifies a number of behaviors that are in violation of this code and the possible sanctions. Furthermore, you are obligated to report any condition that facilitates academic misconduct to the appropriate personnel. If you have any questions or concerns, please consult with the instructor or TA in this class.

Netiquette

Due to the casual style of communication commonly found in the online environment, students are sometimes tempted to relax their grammar, word choice, syntax (arrangement of words to create well-formed sentences), writing mechanics (capitalization, punctuation, and spelling), and/or professionalism. Keep in mind when communicating with others to be courteous, civil, respectful, and professional. Please remember that you are adult students and professionals—your communication must be appropriate.

Online Attendance Policy

If this course is online, students should access this course at least four times per week to ensure you do not miss pertinent postings, messages, or announcements. It is imperative that you meet course deadlines and stay active. If you are experiencing a major illness, absences due to University duties, or other large-scale issues, contact the instructor immediately.

Students are responsible for meeting all academic objectives as defined by the instructor. In general, acceptable reasons for absences include illness, serious family emergencies, special curricular requirements, military obligation, severe weather conditions, religious holidays, and participation in official University activities. Absences from class for court-imposed legal obligations (e.g., jury duty or subpoena) must be excused. Excused absences must be consistent with university policies and require appropriate documentation. For additional information, see the attendance policies.

Software Use

All faculty, staff, and students of the University are required and expected to obey the laws and legal agreements governing software use. Failure to do so can lead to monetary damages and/or criminal penalties for the individual violator. Because such violations are also against University policies and rules, disciplinary action will be taken as appropriate. We, the members of the University of Florida community, pledge to uphold ourselves and our peers to the highest standards of honesty and integrity.

Notification to Students of FERPA Rights

There are federal laws protecting your privacy with regards to grades earned in courses and on individual assignments. For more information, please see: <http://registrar.ufl.edu/catalog0910/policies/regulationferpa.html>.

Online Meeting Etiquette

Video conferencing is an excellent tool to interface with your peers and instructor(s) but there are also netiquette expectations to ensure that all participants are respected and treated with civility. Please make sure that you follow all of the netiquette and etiquette expectations including the following:

Be punctual and courteous.

Position your camera at eye level with good lighting.

Show respect and professionalism by dressing business casual or business professional.

Make sure your background is in a proper setting with minimal distractions.

Mute your microphone when you are not speaking.

Writing Style

In order to meet the academic rigor and standards of UF, all students are required to use the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (APA) 7th Edition style in their courses. The APA 7th Edition Manual has a plethora of guidelines that includes scholarly writing, publishing principles, elements and format for your papers, writing style and grammar, bias-free language guidelines, mechanics of style, in-text citing and references, etc. For additional information on notable changes, see changes between APA 6th Edition and APA 7th Edition.

Lectures

It is the responsibility of the student to attend all lectures. The lectures are designed to build off each other as well as correspond with the weekly readings and assignments.

Assignments

There are a total of FOUR Assignments during the semester. These assignments provide students with theoretical contexts for applying the material learned from the lectures. Specific details about each assignment are provided within the "Assignments Tab" of Canvas. The Assignments are due by 11:59 p.m. EST Thursday of the week assigned. Additionally, students may be required to use programs and websites outside of Canvas to complete activities.

Mid-Semester & Final Project

The Final Project for this course will require students to create a social media campaign aimed at influencing the public to make a change, raise money for a cause, or to influence the government or a business/industry to make a change for the social good. In effect, this is a Public Interest campaign using social media.

The project will be divided into TWO parts:

1. A mid-semester paper detailing a proposed social change campaign
2. A final paper detailing the impact of the project based on creating a real-world social media campaign

Students will be divided into groups in Week Two by the instructor. By Week Three, students will need to decide on a social change campaign they wish to work on for the rest of the semester as part of their Final Project, and have that topic approved by the instructor.

In the mid-semester paper, students will provide background on the issue they wish to address and how they will use social media to bring about positive change in the real-world through a social media campaign.

Students will then need to implement their social change campaign in the real world using social media.

The final paper will discuss the success and failures of that campaign and the effects it had on the real-world. This means students will be creating an original social media campaign with real content that will be viewed by an outside audience.

Course Policies

Incompletes

A course grade of incomplete will be permitted only for serious illness documented by a physician. A timetable for completing the course work must be set before the incomplete is given.

Courtesy.

If you arrive late to lecture or lab, settle in with minimum disturbance. Put your cell phone on vibrate. DO NOT TAKE PHOTOS DURING THE CLASS OF POWERPOINTS OR OTHER MATERIAL. First, this can be distracting to the instructor. Second, if you are only taking photos of the lecture material, you are not processing the information and you will not learn it. This may prevent you from doing well on exams.

Flexibility

We believe the semester plan outlined in the calendar is realistic. Nonetheless, the instructor reserves the right to adjust the course content, exercises, exams, etc., based on the class's collective ability to maintain pace.

Attendance

Requirements for class attendance, exams, assignments and other work in this course are consistent with university policies unless specifically stated within this syllabus. These university policies can be found in the online catalog at:

<https://catalog.ufl.edu/ugrad/current/regulations/info/attendance.aspx>

Students requesting accommodation for disabilities must first register with the Dean of Students Office (<http://www.dso.ufl.edu/drc/>). The Dean of Students Office will provide documentation to the student who must then provide this documentation to the instructor when requesting accommodation. You must submit this documentation prior to submitting assignments or taking the quizzes or exams. Accommodations are not retroactive, therefore, students should contact the office as soon as possible in the term for which they are seeking accommodations.

Students with Disabilities who may need accommodations in this class are encouraged to notify the instructor and contact the Disability Resource Center (DRC) so that reasonable accommodations may be implemented. DRC is located in room 001 in Reid Hall or you can contact them by phone at 352-392-8565.

University Policy on Academic Misconduct

Academic honesty and integrity are fundamental values of the University community. Students should be sure that they understand the UF Student Honor Code at <https://sccr.dso.ufl.edu/wp-content/uploads/sites/4/2018/08/The-Orange-Book-Web.pdf>

The University of Florida Honor Code reads as follows:

The Honor Pledge: We, the members of the University of Florida community, pledge to hold ourselves and our peers to the highest standards of honesty and integrity by abiding by the Student Honor Code.

On all work submitted for credit by Students at the University of Florida, the following pledge is either required or implied: “On my honor, I have neither given nor received unauthorized aid in doing this assignment.”

ACADEMIC HONESTY

All students in the College of Journalism and Communications are expected to conduct themselves with the highest degree of integrity. It is the students’ responsibility to ensure that they know and understand the requirements of every assignment. At a minimum, this includes avoiding the following:

Plagiarism: Plagiarism occurs when an individual presents the ideas or expressions of another as his or her own. Students must always credit others’ ideas with accurate citations and must use quotation marks and citations when presenting the words of others.

Cheating: Cheating occurs when a student circumvents or ignores the rules that govern an academic assignment such as an exam or class paper. It can include using notes, in physical or electronic form, in an exam, submitting the work of another as one’s own, or reusing a paper a student has composed for one class in another class. If a student is not sure about the rules that govern an assignment, it is the student’s responsibility to ask for clarification from his instructor.

Misrepresenting Research Data: The integrity of data in mass communication research is a paramount issue for advancing knowledge and the credibility of our professions. For this reason, any intentional misrepresentation of data, or misrepresentation of the conditions or circumstances of data collection, is considered a violation of academic integrity. Misrepresenting data is a clear violation of the rules and requirements of academic integrity and honesty.

Students are expected to adhere to the University of Florida Code of Conduct <https://www.dso.ufl.edu/sccr/process/student-conduct-honor-code>
